Her Companion Disappeared.

Mr. J. H. Brown, living near Hunter's Mill, on the W. & O. R. R., yesterday reported to Lieutenant Smith that a strange woman with but one arm came to his house on January 1st and stated that she had lost the limb in a railroad accident at Benning, that she had sued the company for damages and the case had been compromised, she agreeing to accept $5,000. She remained at Mr. Brown's house until the 12th instant when she invited Mr. Brown's daughter to accompany her on a visit to Washington. The woman had previously borrowed a cloak, underclothing and a silver watch belonging to Miss Brown. The couple proceeded to Washington and upon arriving at the B. & P. depot the elder woman told her companion to take a seat in the waiting room and she would meet her in a few minutes. The young woman went where directed and as minutes ran into hours she started to search for her companion. The latter had vanished and has not been seen by Miss Brown since. The man had given her name as Lena Roberts.

This morning Officers Lyles and Mayhew got on the track of the woman, who was walking about the western part of the city. When she saw the officers she attempted to elude them and walked around one of two squares until one of the officers went down an alley and intercepted her. She was taken to the station house where she said her name is Lena Roberts and surrendered the watch she procured from Miss Brown.

In answer to questions she acknowledged she had been in jail in Baltimore for stealing. She also said she lost her arm in a laundry, but refused to state where she was born and later became as mute as the Sphinx and made no answers whatever to further queries. The woman's face is full of freckles and she seems to be about 30 years old. She will be held subject to the action of the Fairfax authorities.

Death of Mr. Budd.

Mr. Isaac W. Budd, who was stricken with paralysis last Tuesday and who had been in a critical condition ever since, died at his home on south Fairfax street at a quarter to 10 o'clock last night. The deceased was 66 years of age. He leaves a widow and three sons. It was apparent to the many friends and acquaintances of the deceased at the time he was stricken that his recovery was, humanly speaking, impossible. He remained unconscious and virtually powerless to make the slightest motion during his three days' illness. The many friends and acquaintances of the family sincerely sympathized with them in the sudden affliction which has darkened the household. The funeral will take place from the late residence of the deceased, 125 south Fairfax street Monday at 3 p. m. The pallbearers will be Messrs. K. Kemper, P. F. Gorman, G. Wm. Ramsay, Edgar Warfield, A. G. Uhler and Wm. P. McKnight. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. F. J. Brooke, of the Second Presbyterian Church. The funeral will be attended by R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, of which organization the deceased was a member.

Dr. Gibson Critically Ill.

The many friends of Dr. William Gibson will regret to learn that he is seriously ill at his home on the northwest corner of Duke and St. Asaph streets. He is suffering from a complication of organic troubles. Dr. Gibson has been a familiar figure in this community for many years, where he has ministered to three generations. He was born in the County Armagh, in the north of Ireland, seventy-three years ago, and came to Philadelphia when about fifteen years old. He received most of his education in that city, graduating in the best medical colleges, and when a young man came to Alexandria where he has since remained. Doctor Gibson married an Alexandria lady (daughter of the late Thomas Meahaffey), and has eight children—four sons and four daughters. During his long sojourn in Alexandria he has enjoyed the esteem of all with whom he has become acquainted.

Mary Curtis Lee Chapter, U. D. C., will hold its annual meeting at the residence of Mrs. Pabney Herndon on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

ANNIVERSARY OF GREAT FIRE.

Forty Buildings Destroyed in its Path from Royal St. et to the Potomac—Loss $200,000.

On Thursday, January 18, 1827—seventy-six years ago—occurred the most destructive conflagration in the history of Alexandria. Shortly before 9 o'clock on the morning of that day fire originating in Green's cabinet factory, which stood on the site now occupied by the Hotel Fleischmann, communicated to the adjoining houses, and, fanned by a brisk northwest wind, spread rapidly in a southeasterly direction destroying nearly all the buildings in its path to the river. The day was bitterly cold—the mercury in the thermometer registering 13°—but cold as the weather was the firemen and citizens turned out with alacrity to the assistance of their neighbors. As an auxiliary to the fire department a "bucket brigade" was quickly organized, the line extending up Prince street from the river, and buckets of water were passed from hand to hand to points where most needed. Among the most energetic helpers in line were many young women who rendered effective service.

The Alexandria fire department at that period consisted of the Friendship, Sun and Relief engine and hose companies—a force totally inadequate to cope with a fire of that magnitude, and Mayor Roberts realizing that fact called on the authorities of Washington and Georgetown for assistance. When the message reached the Mayor of Washington he at once ordered two fire companies with their engines and hose and shortly afterward two more engines were added to the assisting force. The Georgetown firemen also came down over the turnpike, bringing their engine, and rendered valuable service. All the marines at the Washington barracks were also ordered here and brought an engine with them, and though they did not arrive until the fire was under control, they afforded important service as guards.

The first succor arrived in this city about 11 o'clock, and was followed by successive supplies. The Alexandrians exhausted by fatigue and anxiety, welcomed relief from that quarter as almost providential. The engines having the river for the source furnished copious supplies of water and though the streams descended in the form of ice and sleet, mantling the firemen in icy garments, but one of the engines was frozen during the day as to be disabled.

The fire commenced on the east side of Royal street between King and Prince streets and extended to Fairfax; thence down Prince to Union street. The number of houses destroyed, besides back buildings, was about forty, and the value of the houses and goods destroyed was estimated at $200,000. The Fire Insurance Company of Alexandria was a considerable loser by this fire.

The principal sufferers by the loss of property were Mr. Hill, Mr. Brochus, Mr. Dodds, Mr. Harper, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Rumney, Mr. Reed, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Hepburn, Messrs. G. and J. F. Thompson, Miss Wilson, estate of P. G. Marsteller, John C. May, Mr. Howell, Mr. Nightingill, Isabel Howard and several others. The office of the Alexandria Gazette, then located on Fairfax street, was in such danger, though the building escaped, that the material was hastily removed and the paper in consequence missed three daily issues. During the progress of the fire refreshments were most liberally distributed by the people of Alexandria to their visitors and a great deal of hospitality and good will were displayed.

Congress appropriated $10,000 for the relief of the Alexandrians.

Vulcanizing Property Sold.
Messrs. M. R. Harlow & Co., real estate brokers, have closed the sale for Clarence F. Norment, Nathaniel Wilson, Levi Woodberry and the estate of Wm. E. Clark, of Washington, of the property on Union street running from Wolfe to Wilkes, into the Potomac river, and known as the Haskins Wood Vulcanizing property, to Mr. Henry Chipman, of Baltimore, who has for some time been occupying this property as a barytes works. Owing to the large area this property occupies and its superior advantages for shipping purposes, there is a probability that Mr. Chipman will, in the near future, remove his plant works from Baltimore to Alexandria. This is one of the best located squares for manufacturing purposes in the city, situated as it is on the river front with two railroad tracks running into it. It was originally the Smith & Perkins locomotive works with Hunter's shipyard on the south.

Shot at Bread Thief.
At an early hour this morning Mr. Lawrence Sanford, night watchman at Rishell & Sons' mill, saw a man turn from Fairfax street into Wilkes and start west, keeping in the shadow of the house on the southwest corner. The officer hailed the suspicious individual, who was carrying something in his arms, when the latter turned into the alley and started to run south. Mr. Sanford drew his pistol and discharged it at the fugitive, when the latter dropped eight pounds of bread at the back gate of the premises occupied by Mr. James Wilkins. The bread had been taken from a box in front of Mr. Carley Wood's store, northwest corner of Fairfax and Gibson streets. It is not known whether the thief is white or colored.

Will Be Arrested Hereafter.
Yesterday two Washington policemen in citizens' clothes came to one of the depots in this city in order to capture some person who is charged with an offense in the capital city. When approached by officers of this city they refused to state the object of their visit or to have any intercourse with the Alexandria officers. When Mayor Simpson's attention was called to the matter he issued instructions that hereafter officers coming from other places under such circumstances must be treated as suspicious characters, and that should they undertake to arrest any person in the streets of Alexandria without first communicating with the police department they will be arrested themselves and summarily dealt with.

General Lee's Birthday.
Monday, January 19, will be the anniversary of General R. E. Lee's birthday, and is a legal holiday in Virginia and in many of the other southern States. In this city the banks will close and the schools will be given holiday. At night Lee Camp will hold its annual banquet.

Alexandria Hospital Notes.

Mills Hammett, of Arkansas, a student at the Episcopal High School, near this city, was taken to the Alexandria Hospital today. He is suffering from throat trouble, supposed to have been superinduced by swallowing a portion of a wooden toothpick.

Asa Thomas, colored, was taken to the hospital today. He is suffering from an incurable disease and had been an inmate of the Washington Asylum Hospital. The Board of Charities of that city sent him to Alexandria and according to the official who accompanied Thomas here they were under the impression that the county authorities would provide for the comfort of the sufferer. They were told that the county had no poor house nor had the authorities made any provision for taking care of the man. Of course he could not be turned away from the hospital, and he will be kept there until some satisfactory arrangements can be made for his removal.

Personal.

Miss Ida Moore handsomely entertained a number of her friends at a progressive euchre last night at her home on south Lee street.

To be Made Bishop.

It is understood that Rev. Dr. A. S. Lloyd, formerly of Norfolk, and now missionary secretary of the Episcopal Church in America, will be elected bishop of Mississippi by the diocesan council at Natchez, to succeed the late Bishop Thompson. Rev. Dr. Lloyd formerly resided in Alexandria, where he has a large number of relatives and they will be glad to learn of his selection as bishop.

Struck by an Engine and Killed.
At an early hour this morning while Samuel Noble, colored, was walking on the Washington-Southern Railway tracks near St. Asaph Junction he was struck and killed by a south bound locomotive. The body was subsequently taken in charge by the county authorities and a coroner's jury summoned. The remains will be brought here by Mr. B. Wheatly for interment.
